1. An aircraft observation and identification post composed of 40 individuals is located in a building in Marburg, on the west bank of the Drava River, near the Austrian frontier.
2. An observation tower has been constructed on a hill situated near the border and permanent observation guards have been posted there. Each time a plane is spotted, it is reported by telephone and radio to the post in Ljubljana.
3. Another observation post, similar to the one in Marburg, is located in Zirovnica, near Jesenice (Assling).
4. It is believed that other posts have been set up along the Yugoslav borders, particularly along the Hungarian border.
